WHEAT IS BURNED BY THE NIGHT RIDERS SOLDIERS LEAVE FOR THE ENCAMPMENT

PROMINENT FARMER VICTIM OF
THE OUTRAGE

LEFT A WARNING FOR HIM

Must Join Association or Have More Troubles.—Pulled Up His Tobacco Plants.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Night riders destroyed about one hundred bushels of newly threshed wheat last night belonging to R. D. Fort, near the Tennessee line, and pulled up a quarter of an acre of tobacco which had been planted for several days and which was growing nicely. Mr. Fort is not a member of the association and, after setting fire to his wheat the night riders wrote in the dust a warning that unless he joined the association he might expect further trouble. He was a member of the organization until two years ago, since which time he has been selling his tobacco independently.

The wheat was threshed yesterday and the sacks, about two hundred, were piled in the straw rick. This rick was set on fire and about one hundred bushels of the wheat was entirely destroyed while the balance was only slightly damaged.

The tobacco was destroyed by being pulled up by the roots from the hills in which it had been planted. It is reported that threshermen of that section have been warned that they must not thresh the wheat of certain non-association farmers. Some of these, it is said, have heeded the warning while others have not. One of those who is said to have received more than one warning of this nature is a Mr. Ramsey, who has been in the threshing business for a number of years.

MARRY IN NEW YORK

MISS WALL AND MR. WHARTON
TAKE NUPTIAL VOWS

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Miss Rowena Wall and Mr. William Polk Wharton were married today in New York City. The announcement was received this morning in a telegram from the bride to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wall, and was a complete surprise to everyone, though the engagement of the happy couple was known to relatives and intimate friends. When Mr. Wharton was in the city several weeks ago to visit his fiancée, he urged that the nuptials should be performed at that time, but yielded to the wishes of Mr. and Mrs. Wall and the date of the wedding was fixed in September. Last week, Miss Wall went to New York to fill a summer engagement as soloist in one of the large churches of that city. The sweethearts, meeting in New York, decided to forego the details of the elaborate home wedding which had been planned and quietly to assume the sacred vows without further delay. The telegram received today merely announced the marriage and stated that a letter containing full particulars would follow. The bride is a lovely and highly accomplished young woman. As a vocalist, she has achieved, notwithstanding her youthfulness, enviable distinction, and last session had charge of the vocal department of the Virginia Institute at Bristol, Va. To wed the man of her choice she gives up a professional career of unusual promise and success. The fortunate bridegroom is a gentleman of sterling worth, a member of a prominent southern family and a grandnephew of President James Polk. He is traveling representative of a large wholesale mercantile establishment in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Wharton will make their home in New York City.

WAR BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND JAPAN IS JUST A MATTER OF TIME

KANSAS CITY, July 9.—A special to the Times from Oklahoma City, says: "United States Senator Robert L. Taylor, of Tennessee, in an interview here today said: "War with Japan is bound to come eventually. I am glad that sixteen battleships have been sent to the Pacific coast. If war were to be declared now, Japan could easily gobble up all of our far eastern possessions. Permanent peace can come to the United States only by a large navy and I trust some day that we will have 100 battleships."

DEATH WARRANT

Of Harrison Alexander is Signed By The Governor.

FRANKFORT, Ky., July 9.—Gov. Beckham today signed the death warrant of Harrison Alexander, the Muhlenberg negro, sentenced to die August 9 for assaulting a half-witted white woman. Alexander is in the Christian county jail for safekeeping.

ROBERT L. TAYLOR.
Former governor of Tennessee and new United States senator, succeeding E. W. Carmack. Known as "Fiddling Bob."

SECRETARY OF NAVY DENIES THE CRUISE
FORESHADOWS ARMED CONFLICT WITH JAPAN.

SECRETARY VICTOR METCALF.

The attention of readers is respectfully directed to the advertisement of the Vanderbilt Training School, of Elkton, which appears in this impression of the New Era. The faculty of the institution for the incoming year has been completed and is constituted as follows: J. T. Erwin, president; Jas. Hinton, professor of English and history; W. H. Thrasher, professor of French, German and science. The Rev. Geo. E. Foskett, pastor of the M. E. church will be teacher of Bible history and literature, while Mrs. Lou Dawson is matron of Elliott hall. The fall session will be the sixteenth year of the school, and the prospects are reported bright.

AFTER CORONER

Allensworth Cited to Appear For Contempt of Court

ELKTON, Ky., June 10.—(Special)—An order has been issued by the circuit court which is now in session here, requiring Coroner James L. Allensworth, of Christian county, to appear here next Friday and show why he shall not be punished for contempt of court in failing to serve a commonwealth process which was sent to him.

It is claimed that Coroner Allensworth refused to serve the process and now he will explain to the judge why he took such action.

OKLAND, Cal., July 10.—Secretary of Navy Metcalf deprecates the warlike aspect given the order for a cruise of the great battleships squadron from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. The secretary said last night the proposed movement was only a practice cruise and that the fleet would not be kept in the Pacific permanently. He declared the length of time the fleet would remain on the western side of the continent had not yet been decided. With considerable emphasis the secretary voiced the opinion the warlike interpretation made in connection with the fleet's movement was not justified by the facts. In fact, the widely published reports suggesting hostile preparations seem to be a source of irritation for the head of the navy.

GONE TO REWARD

Mrs. Cavanaugh Passes Away in The Kelly Neighborhood.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Mrs. J. H. Cavanaugh, the wife of Squire J. H. Cavanaugh, of the Kelly neighborhood, died Tuesday at her home of diseases incident to her advanced age of about seventy years. Her husband and a large family survive her. Interment took place this afternoon in the family burying ground, the services being conducted by Rev. B. F. Hyde.

Mrs. Cavanaugh was a consecrated member of the Baptist church and her saintly life was an inspiration to all who came in contact with her.

Goes to Asylum.

James Scruggs, of the Herndon vicinity and one of the leading farmers of that section, was adjudged of unsound mind Tuesday in county court and was sent to the Western Kentucky Asylum for the Insane.

Mr. Scruggs' trouble is acute melancholia. He is only afflicted at times and yesterday when on the stand talked as rationally as any one and stated that he realized his condition and thought it best that he go to the asylum for treatment. His many friends hope that a speedy and permanent cure will be effected and that he may soon be able to return to his home.

George Howell, of Richmond, Va., is in the city visiting his mother, Mrs. W. R. Howell.

COMPANY D. IS IN FINE CON-DITION

EXPECT TO HAVE BIG TIME

Col. Henry and Regimental Officers Left on Same Train—Two Ladies in The Party.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

It has been a long time since Hopkinsville has sent a military company to the annual encampment which presented as fine appearance as did Co. D., when the members left last night for Jamestown. The company was a full one, containing fifty three men three officers and two colored cooks. The soldiers were in highest spirits notwithstanding the extremely hot weather and they walked about town while waiting for their train, carrying their heavy blanket rolls, canteens, haversack, tin cups, guns, etc., as nonchalantly as if the weather was cool enough to make the burden of these things pleasant.

When the train arrived with the Madisonville and Earlinton companies already on board, some delay was experienced in securing entrance to the car which had been reserved for the Hopkinsville company, but when they were finally admitted they took possession with a rush and even before the train left the depot the men had rid themselves of their heavy load and made themselves comfortable for the long and tiresome journey of nearly two days and nights.

"Billy," the big white bull dog belonging to Policeman Broderick, was taken along as the company's mascot. Billy's coat was as white and clean as soap and water and a generous rubbing could make it and he wore a resplendent set of harness which had been made for the occasion of red leather plentifully adorned with brass buttons. He seemed to feel the importance of his position and maintained a most dignified and martial composure and when taken into the car with the company he immediately appropriated one of the seats and made himself comfortable for the night.

Besides the company, Col. Jonett Henry, who will be in command of the regiment, Major E. B. Bassett, commanding the First Battalion, Capt. A. G. Chapman, regimental commissary, Capt. B. Gordon Nelson, regimental quartermaster, First Lieut. Ben. S. Winfree, adjutant for the regiment, and the company's train a sleeper having been provided for their use. Mrs. Henry, wife of the colonel, and Mrs. Clark, wife of the captain of the company, accompanied their husbands. Major C. H. Tandy, brigade quartermaster, and Capt. Lawson Flack aide de camp, on the staff or Brigadier Rogers will not attend the encampment until Gen. Williams does, which will be several days later, the exact time not having been set.

A crowd which overflowed the platform watched the departure of the soldiers and wished them good luck and a pleasant time on their trip.

Those who went with the company were:

DON'T DIE AT 45.

Cure the Indigestion Which is so Liable to Lead to Apoplexy.

Rush of business, eating too fast and too much, excesses of any kind, soon result in indigestion. Then when the digestive organs cannot care for the food properly the coats of the blood vessels in the brain get little nourishment, become brittle, and finally yield to the fierce blood pressure. One is then said to have a "shock," to be paralyzed, or to die from apoplexy.

People suffering with headache, giddiness, palpitation, sleeplessness, bad taste in the mouth, drowsiness, coated tongue, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, and any other of the many distressing results of a weakened stomach, should profit by the discovery of Mi-o-na stomach tablets.

In recent years the greatest advance in medicine has been in the study of diseases of digestion and nutrition and no other prescription has proven itself of as much value as Mi-o-na. It is relied upon as a certainty today in relieving the most troubles of digestion and assimilation and making a complete cure.

The strongest proof that can be offered in substantiation of the claims that Mi-o-na will cure the worst forms of stomach trouble, cancer excepted, and give immediate relief in indigestion is the guarantee that L. L. Elgin gives with every 50 cent box of Mi-o-na to refund the money unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this must inspire confidence in Mi-o-na. L. L. Elgin takes the whole risk and the remedy will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

Absence of County Attorney Causes
A Postponement.

Fiscal court met Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of closing up the deal for the sale of the $100,000 worth of road bonds to E. H. Rollins & Sons, of Chicago, but on account of the absence of County Attorney Duffy who went to Chicago to straighten out a slight misunderstanding in the matter and who went from there to St. Louis and took the wrong train out of that city, thus being delayed, the court adjourned until next Tuesday without transacting any business further than appropriating $500 for the pauper fund and allowing their own claims for attendance.

At the session next Tuesday it is expected that the final details will be arranged and that not only will the transaction be closed but that several important orders will be issued relative to some of the new work to be done.

HAD FINE MEETING GIRL USED SHOT GUN AS A PLAYTHING BY A HUMAN FIEND

COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION AT SALEM.

Officers Elected For Ensuing Year.—
Strong Addresses Delivered By Several Prominent Ministers.

(From Friday's Daily)

The annual convention of the Christian County Sunday School Association was held Wednesday at Salem Baptist church.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, C. E. Dudley, Pembroke; vice president, R. L. Baker, Salem; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. C. D. McComb, Pembroke; Supt. home department, W. F. Randall, Hopkinsville; Supt. teacher training, Rev. J. A. Kirtley, Hopkinsville; Supt. house to house visitation, Mr. J. R. Armistead, Hopkinsville; Supt. primary work, Miss Julia Arnold, Hopkinsville.

Among the Hopkinsville people in attendance were:

Dr. M. A. Jenkins, Rev. H. D. Smith, Mrs. Jno. B. Trice, Mrs. H. H. Abernathy, Miss Annie Fruit, Mrs. S. G. Buckner, Miss Susie Stites, Mrs. J. R. Armistead, Miss Bernice Dryer, Mrs. J. J. Morrow, Albert White, Bailey Waller, H. H. Abernathy, Mrs. J. H. Anderson, Dr. A. P. Lyon, Mrs. Ida Campbell and Miss Katie McDaniel.

The meeting was one of the most pleasant and profitable in the history of the organization. A splendid dinner was served on the ground and the guests were delightfully treated by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Baker, the members of the congregation and the good people of the neighborhood.

The program was excellent, including addresses by Rev. Dr. Jenkins, Rev. H. D. Smith, Dr. J. N. Prestridge and Rev. T. C. Gebauer.

BOND ISSUE.

It is understood that Rollins & Sons, to which firm the new issue of Christian county turnpike bonds was awarded, delayed the completion of the sale on account of a misunderstanding in reference to the fund created to pay the interest. County Attorney Duffy states that by an oversight this fund was omitted from the official record. This matter, it is said, will likely be remedied at a meeting of the fiscal court next Tuesday.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How to find out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Weapon Was Accidentally Discharged And She Received Load in Her Side And Died in a Few Moments.

The only accident so far reported on the Fourth of July, was the accidental killing of Lucy Leavell, a fifteen-year-old colored girl who lives in Gainesville.

The Leavell girl and Mittle Baxter are said to have been playing with a shotgun. The brother of the dead girl saw them and attempted to take the weapon from them, but his sister started off around the house, dragging the butt of the gun on the ground behind her, and as she went around a corner the hammer struck and the entire charge of shot entered the girl's left side. A physician was sent for at once but the girl died within a few minutes and before he arrived.

VERY SATISFACTORY

Just six months today since the Hopkinsville Lumber company started business and since then they have had a very satisfactory business and profitable enough to admit of their paying a three per cent dividend to their stock-holders out of the net earnings.

This company shows evidence of their success and prosperity by the numerous contracts they have completed and now have under course of construction.

Hopkinsville, is the best town in Kentucky and is dotted with houses built by them, all of which show good workmanship, as well as style of architecture. While it is true, they are not getting all of the contracts, yet they are getting a large proportion and fully as much as they expected and the outlook for their future share is very promising.

The people of Hopkinsville, and Christian county appreciate the manner in which this company does its work and as evidence of this they are working a large number of men and are taking contracts and doing work of every nature, pertaining to building as well as remodeling.

They have everything in the Plumbing and Tin line and put in complete heating plants. Also complete stock of Rough and Dressed lumber and building materials of all kinds. They have competent men to do this work and are fully prepared to carry out any contracts given them, from foundation to roof complete. Every man connected with and in the employ of this company are citizens of Hopkinsville, most of them owning their homes and are closely identified with the growth and prosperity of Hopkinsville.

This company, while only 6 months old, has been a factor in the building up of Hopkinsville and will continue to be as it is their purpose to increase their facilities as fast as possible, also enlarge their plant, having just contracted for a car of new machinery, which will be shipped at once and installed upon arrival. With this added to their present line of machinery, it will enable them to take care of their rapidly increasing business.

This plant is well located on the I. C. railroad, the survey having already been made for a switch to extend across the entire length of their property, ending on the Canton pike and work on same will be commenced as soon as possible.

They have also added a downtown office, which is located in the Cooper building on Main St., next to the Home Telephone company's office, where they will be glad, any time, to see their friends. "Nothing succeeds like success," and the good people of Hopkinsville will show their appreciation of an enterprise like this, by giving them a portion of their patronage.

A Correction

The article in the Hopkinsville Independent, in which it was stated that I would close out my business here and return to Virginia, was premature and misleading. I have not taken any steps to leave Hopkinsville, have not sold my house, nor my business, neither am I closing out business. The Independent had no authority to make the assertion in their paper of July 3. I have, however, been contemplating the sale of my home and my business because of greater opportunities elsewhere. We have had a good business here, but on account of my extended experience in wholesale business, I feel that my individual services are worth more in this capacity than in a retail business.

AN AGED LADY NEAR CASKY IS MISTREATED

Several Times Man Forced His Way Into Her Room—Had Struggle With Brute.

Mrs. Lloyd, a very old lady who for some years had lived alone in her little home near Casky, was fearfully mistreated by an unknown man who visited her home at night. The first visit of the brute was about five weeks ago. At that time he crept in the room of Mrs. Lloyd late in the night and when she awoke the man had hold of her hand. He threw the bed covers over her head and told her he would kill her if she screamed. She struggled until she finally got her head uncovered, and yelled murder as loud as she could. Although no one heard the cries, the man left, after telling Mrs. Lloyd that he would come back and kill her if she told of the occurrence. She was badly bruised up in the struggle and from blows that the man struck her about the face and head.

Mrs. Lloyd told no one of her experience, and was not troubled any more until Thursday night of last week. Presumably the same man came that night and again on Friday and Saturday nights. Being so thoroughly scared by this time, Mrs. Lloyd told Mr. W. H. Whitlow, of this city, about her troubles, and he sent a conveyance for her and had her removed to his home, where she now is.

Judge W. P. Winfree, of Hopkinsville, was informed of the circumstances and he will try to sell Mrs. Lloyd's little home, and Mr. Whitlow will attend to raising funds to add to what her home brings and a little home will be built for her here.

Mrs. Lloyd has an idea who her assailant was, he having left his hat on the occasion of his first visit.—Pembroke Journal.

TOM GARTH KILLED

SHOT TO DEATH BY NEGRO AT ELKTON

Trouble Arose Over A Settlement Saturday Night.—The Slayer Made His Escape.

Thomas Garth was shot and killed by a negro in Miller's restaurant in Elkton Saturday night at 11:30 o'clock. Garth was employed by Miller, as also was the negro. It seems that Miller and the negro had prior to that time had a settlement, the negro demanding $2 more, in Miller's absence, which Garth was told not to pay. One word brought on another and the negro was ordered out of the house. As he left he turned and shot Garth, the ball entering his abdomen and he only lived an hour. The negro escaped and has not been heard of. A posse is searching for the negro and a lynching is threatened if he is caught.

When a boy turns his bulging pocket inside out we marvel at the quantity and variety of articles he has stowed away. Odd lengths of string, marbles, a horse chestnut, a top, brass nails, hickory-nuts, an apple, and many more articles are garnered by his "snapper up of unconsidered trifles." We think the collection must be hard on a boy's pocket. And it is. But do we ever think of the variety and miscellany of the substances we put into the pocket of our stomach? There's the apple and the nuts, and things besides quite as indigestible as brass nails and with no more food value than so many marbles. And yet we wonder that the stomach "gives out." When the stomach breaks down under the strain of careless eating and irregular meals it can be perfectly and permanently restored to health and strength by the use of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The action of this medicine on the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition is so marked that relief from disease is at once experienced, and the headaches, liver "troubles," kidney disorders, skin eruptions and other symptoms of a diseased stomach are quickly cured. Dr. Pierce's medicines are purely vegetable—no alcohol or habit-forming drugs enter into their composition.

Peculiar Accident.

Mr. Reason D. Gray, who lives on the Albert Kelly place, between this city and Hopkinsville, lost a fine horse in a peculiar manner last week. He got in a buggy with a friend and was leading the horse behind the buggy, when in some manner the animal stumbled and fell, breaking his left fore leg. Mr. Gray sent for a veterinary surgeon from Hopkinsville, who tried to set the leg, but the fracture was of such a nature that he could not get it done in a satisfactory manner, and the animal had to be killed. —Fairview Review.

When there is the slightest indication of indigestion, heart burn, flatulence or any form of stomach trouble take a little Kodol occasionally and you will afford prompt relief. Kodol is a compound of vegetable acids and contains the juices found in a healthy stomach. Kodol digests what you eat, makes your food do you good. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

ALL CHILDREN

at birth inherit a predisposition to bodily ills and ailments—more or less serious. The stomach and bowels are the most prolific sources of ill-health. There are the hotbeds of disease, and because less attention is given them, more evil can be traced directly to them than to any other organs of the body. Where there is the least indication of trouble or you are feeling out of sorts,

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

should be taken at once. It is the best preparation for the stomach and bowels. If they are all out of order, it will eradicate the trouble, tone up the parts and restore them to their natural condition. DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN communicates itself to the whole system and its beneficial and curative effects are pronounced and instantly experienced. It will keep you in good health. DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN can be obtained in both dollar and half-dollar sizes from all druggists. Your money will be refunded if it does not benefit you. WORK IN PROGRESS

ON FIRST SECTION OF NEW RAIL-ROAD

Contract is Let to Cairo & Atlantic
Construction Company.—Hopkins-

Work on the first section of a new line of road from Wycliffe, Ky., to Bristol, Tenn., has, according to the Paducah Register, been awarded to the Cairo & Atlantic Construction company. The section contracted for will run eastward from Wycliffe 108 miles and will be completed within one year.

The total distance of the entire line as proposed will be 465 miles. From Wycliffe the road will cross the river from Cairo easterly near the southern border of Kentucky to Jellico, and thence through the northern part of Tennessee to Bristol. Among the places to be touched will be Jacksboro, Tazewell, Sneedville, Rogersville, Blountville and Bristol, Tenn., and Mayfield, Dexter, Canton, Cadiz, Gracey, Hopkinsville, Elkton, Scottsville, Franklin, Tompkinsville, Albany, Monticello and Jellico in Kentucky.

Such a line would materially shorten the distance from the coal and iron fields of western Kentucky to Cairo, Chicago and the west.

Surveys are being pushed on the remainder of the route. The line will cross the Tennessee river twice, one of the bridges being about 1,800 feet long, and will cross the Cumberland over a bridge of 1,000 feet. The minimum grades will be about one-half of 1 per cent and the maximum curves three degrees. The officers are: President L. W. Goode, 11 Broadway, New York; general manager, Charles H. Delano, Mayfield, Ky.; assistant general manager, E. C. Watson, Wycliffe, Ky. The road will be called the Cairo & Tennessee.

NO RACE SUICIDE

IN KENTUCKY ACCORDING TO SCHOOL CENSUS.

An Increase Of Over Six Thousand Children Showed By the Report Of Superintendent Fuqua.

There are six thousand, three hundred and nine more children of school age in the state of Kentucky this year than there were in 1906 according to the school census for 1907, returns from which have just been received by State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. H. Fuqua. Every county of the 119 counties of the state, have made reports with the exception of Trigg, and in the compilation of the figures the census of Trigg for last year is considered. Christian county's school population is 11,698, having the second largest in the state, Pulaski coming first with 12,807.

The census shows a total school population in the counties exclusive of the cities which have their schools systems separate, of 590,928. In the 24 cities of the state which have their school systems separate from the counties in which they are situated there are 148,712 children of school age, making a grand total in the state of 739,640.

Superintendent Fuqua is very much pleased with the healthy increase shown for the year, and predicts that the cause of education is on a wave of advancement in Kentucky, which bids fair to carry it still onward and to better things. Rough calculations of the per capita for the school this year shows that it will be well over $3, and will be in excess of last year's amount.

Dividend No. 1.

A dividend of three (3) per cent, was declared by board of directors, out of the net earnings, of six (6) months ending June 30th, and same payable August 1st, at the office of the company.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his service. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be secured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., the leading druggist, 9th and Main, Hopkinsville.

Death of "Buster."

"Buster" Ducker was run over by a freight train at the Illinois Central depot Friday night and instantly killed, the body being terribly mangled by the wheels of the train. The tragedy occurred in plain view of the employees of the local station. "Buster" was playing about the platform and just as the freight came backing in he ran out on the track, not noticing the approaching cars. Before he could be warned the car struck him and with one despairing shriek his life was crushed out and his body was cut and mashed into an unrecognizable mass. As soon as the train had passed, the bleeding remains were tenderly gathered up and carried into the depot.

"Buster" was the big white bull dog belonging to Jim Ducker, the night operator at the Illinois Central. Every night when his master went on duty the dog accompanied him and kept vigil with him throughout the long and lonesome hours of the night. Everyone knew the dog and to all he was known as "Buster" Ducker.

that won't come off, appears on baby's face after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that smile on baby's face. If you keep this medicine on hand, you will never see anything else but smiles on his face. Mrs. S. S. Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by L. A. Johnson & Co.

HON. P. WATT HARDIN IS GETTING RICH FROM A GEORGIA GOLD MINE

HON. P. WATT HARDIN

Hon. P. Watt Hardin, one of the best known leaders among Kentucky Democrats in recent years, is accumulating a vast fortune from a Georgia gold mine, says the Louisville Times. For several years past the eminent lawyer's name has disappeared from Kentucky discussion, and his friends wondered at his silence.

Ben Lee Hardin, a brother, while on his way home from Livermore, gave the information.

Watt Hardin is in Georgia. He is interested in a gold mine. He is reported to be getting rich. He is coming back to Kentucky in about a week to visit his old home at Harrodsburg.

It is understood that former Vice-President Adlai E. Stevenson, whose daughter is a daughter of Watt Hardin married, is one of those interested in the Georgia gold mine. Mr. Hardin is making his headquarters at Gainesville, Ga. The mines are a short distance from Gainesville. In addition to being interested in the mining property, Mr. Hardin has charge of the water plant at the mines. Mr. Hardin's wife died many years ago, and the members of his family are now located in different parts of the country.

Thousands of friends who have missed him from the ranks recently will congratulate him on his good fortune.

Several years ago P. Watt Hardin was one of the most prominent Democratic leaders in Kentucky. Three times he served the state as attorney general and during the campaigns his voice was heard from nearly every stump in the commonwealth.

In 1895 he was chosen as the Democratic nominee for governor, but was unable to carry the party to victory. Wm. O. Bradley, a Republican, being elected.

Then came the Democratic state convention in 1899 in Louisville, after one of the hottest campaigns in the history of Kentucky, with Hardin, Capt. W. J. Stone and William Goebel as the candidate for gubernatorial nomination.

The exciting times at Music Hall convention are still fresh in the memory of Kentuckians. Hardin lost the nomination to Goebel. This seemed to take all ambition for political honors out of Hardin.

It was only a short time after the 1899 convention until Hardin left the state, going to Virginia, where he

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels, bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic, obstinate stages of these affections it is often successful in effecting a cure.

The "Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, irritations and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines. The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into "Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight, than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

Dr. Pierce's Pills, small, sugar-coated, easy to take as candy, regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

had invested in mining and timber lands at Big Stone Gap. After remaining in Virginia for a brief period, this investment proving unprofitable, Hardin returned to the county of his birth (Adair), where he endeavored to develop some oil lands.

During this time new leaders had sprung up in the Democratic party in Kentucky, and the name of Watt Hardin was almost forgotten, except when some incident in his political life was recalled.

Long Live The King!

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America, the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung Remedies" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country. New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds it is the only sure cure. Guaranteed by Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy, druggists, 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

Monsieur Beaucaire

By BOOTH TARKINGTON, Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "The Conquest of Canaan."

Copyright, 1900, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

"If he does, I'll kill him!" she said fiercely. "Ah, what cowards! Will you see the duke murdered?"

"The duke!" laughed Guilford. "They will not kill him, unless—be easy, dear madam, 'twill be explained. Gad's life!" he muttered to Molyneux, "twere time the varlet had his lashing! D'ye hear her?"

"Barber or no barber," answered Molyneux, "I wish I had warned him. He fights as few gentlemen could. Ah—ah! Look at that! 'Tis a shame!"

On foot, his hat gone, his white coat sadly rent and gashed, flocked, too, with red, M. Beaucaire, wary, alert, brilliant, seemed to transform himself into a dozen fencing masters, and, though his skill appeared to lie in delicacy and quickness, his play being continually with the point, sheer strength failed to beat him down. The young man was laughing like a child.

"Believe me," said Molyneux, "he's no barber! No, and never was!"

For a moment there was even a chance that M. Beaucaire might have the best of it. Two of his adversaries were prostrate, more than one were groaning, and the indomitable Frenchman had actually almost beat off the ruffians when, by a trick, he was overcome. One of them, dismounting, ran in suddenly from behind and seized his blade in a thick leather gauntlet. Before Beaucaire could disengage the weapon two others threw themselves from their horses and hurled him to the earth. "A moi! A moi, Francois!" he cried as he went down, his sword in fragments, but his voice unbroken and clear.

"Shame!" muttered one or two of the gentlemen about the coach.

"'Twas dastardly to take him so," said Molyneux. "Whatever his deservings, I'm nigh of a mind to offer him a rescue in the duke's face."

"Truss him up, lads," said the heavy voice. "Clear the way in front of the coach. There sit those whom we avenge upon a presumptuous lackey. Now, Whiffen, you have a fair audience, lay on and baste him."

Two men began to drag M. Beaucaire toward a great oak by the roadside. Another took from his saddle a heavy whip with three thongs.

"A moi, Francois!"

There was borne on the breeze an answer—"Monseigneur! Monseigneur!" The cry grew louder suddenly. The clatter of hoofs urged to an anguish of speed sounded on the night. M. Beaucaire's servants had lagged sorely behind, but they made up for it now. Almost before the noise of their own steeds they came riding down the moonlit aisle between the mists. Chosen men, these servants of Beaucaire, and like a thunderbolt they fell upon the astounded cavaliers.

"Chateaurien! Chateaurien!" they shouted, and smote so swiftly that, through lack of time, they showed no proper judgment, discriminating nothing between noncombatants and their master's foes. They charged first into the group about M. Beaucaire and broke and routed it utterly. Two of them leaped to the young man's side while the other four, swerving, scarce losing the momentum of their onset, bore on upon the gentlemen near the coach, who went down beneath the fierceness of the onslaught, cursing manfully.

"Our just deserts," said Mr. Molyneux, his mouth full of dust and philosophy.

Sir Hugh Guilford's horse fell with him, being literally ridden over, and the baronet's leg was pinned under the saddle. In less than ten minutes from the first attack on M. Beaucaire the attacking party had fled in disorder, and the patrician noncombatants, choking with expletives, consumed with wrath, were prisoners, disarmed by the Frenchman's lackeys.

Guilford's discomfiture had freed the doors of the coach. So it was that when M. Beaucaire, struggling to rise, assisted by his servants, threw out one hand to balance himself, he found it seized between two small, cold palms, and he looked into two warm, dilating eyes that were doubly beautiful because of the fright and rage that found room in them too.

M. le Duc Chateaurien sprang to his feet without the aid of his lackeys and bowed low before Lady Mary.

"I make ten thousand apology to be the cause of a such melee in your presence," he said, and then, turning to Francois, he spoke in French: "Ah, thou scoundrel! A little, and it had been too late."

Francois knelt in the dust before him. "Pardon!" he said. Monseigneur commanded us to follow far in the rear, to remain unobserved. The wind malignantly blew against monseigneur's voice."

"See what it might have cost, my children," said his master, pointing to the ropes with which they would have bound him and to the whip lying beside them. A shudder passed over the lackey's frame. The utter horror in his face echoed in the eyes of his fellows.

"Oh, monseigneur!" Francois sprang back and tossed his arms to heaven.

"But it did not happen," said M. Beaucaire.

"It could not!" exclaimed Francois.

"No. And you did very well, my children"—the young man smiled benevolently—"very well. And now," he continued, turning to Lady Mary and speaking in English, "let me be asking of our gallants yonder what make they to be in cabal with highwaymen. One should come to a polite understanding with them, you think? Not so?"

He bowed, offering his hand to conduct her to the coach, where Molyneux and his companions, having drawn Sir Hugh from under his horse, were engaged in reviving and reassuring Lady Rellerton, who had fainted. But Lady Mary stayed Beaucaire with a gesture, and the two stood where they were.

"Monseigneur!" she said, with a note of raillery in her voice, but her very so tender that he started with happiness. His movement brought him a hot spasm of pain, and he clapped his hand to a red stain on his waistcoat.

"You are hurt!"

"It is nothing," smiled M. Beaucaire. Then, that she might not see the stain spreading, he held his handkerchief over the spot. "I am a little—but just a trifling—bruise; 'tis all."

"You shall ride in the coach," she whispered. "Will you be pleased, M. de Chateaurien?"

"Ah, my beautiful!" She seemed to wave before him like a shining mist. "I wish that ride might last for all ways! Can you say that, mademoiselle?"

"Monseigneur," she cried in a passion of admiration, "I would what you would have been, should be. What do you not deserve? You are the bravest man in the world!"

"Ha, ha! I am just a poor Frenchman."

"Would that a few Englishmen had shown themselves as 'poor' tonight. The vile cowards, not to help you!" With that, suddenly possessed by her anger, she swept away from him to the coach.

Sir Hugh, groaning loudly, was being assisted into the vehicle.

"My little poltroons," she said, "what are you doing with your fellow craven, Sir Hugh Guilford, there?"

"Madam," replied Molyneux humbly, "Sir Hugh's leg is broken. Lady Rellerton graciously permits him to be taken in."

"I do not permit it! M. de Chateaurien rides with us."

"But—"

"Sir! Leave the wretch to groan by the roadside," she cried fiercely, "which plight I would were that of all of you! But there will be a pretty story for the gossips tomorrow! And I could almost find pity for you when I think of the wits when you return to town. Fine gentlemen, you; hardy bravos, by heaven, to leave one man to meet a troop of horse single handed while you huddle in shelter until you are overthrown and disarmed by servants! Oh, the wits! Heaven save you from the wits!"

"Madam."

"Address me no more! M. de Chateaurien, Lady Rellerton and I will greatly esteem the honor of your company. Will you come?"

She stepped quickly into the coach and was gathering her skirts to make room for the Frenchman, when a heavy voice spoke from the shadows of the tree by the wayside.

"Lady Mary Carlisle will, no doubt, listen to a word of counsel on this point."

The Duke of Winterset rode out into the moonlight, composedly untying a mask from about his head. He had not shared the flight of his followers, but had retired into the shade of the oak, whence he now made his presence known with the utmost coolness.

"Gracious heavens, 'tis Winterset!" exclaimed Lady Rellerton.

"Turned highwayman and cutthroat!" cried Lady Mary.

"No, no," laughed M. Beaucaire, somewhat unsteadily, as he stood, swaying a little, with one hand on the coach door, the other pressed hard on his side, "he only oversee. 'He is just a little bashful, sometime'. He is a great man, but he don't want all the glory!"

"Barber," replied the duke, "I must tell you that I gladly descend to bandy words with you. Your monstrous impudence is a claim to rank I cannot ignore. But a lackey who has himself followed by six other lackeys—"

"Ha, ha! Has not M. le Duc been busy all this evening to justify me? And I think mine must be the best six. Ha, ha! You think?"

"M. de Chateaurien," said Lady Mary, "we are waiting for you."

"Pardon," he replied. "He has something to say. Maybe it is best if you hear it now."

"I wish to hear nothing from him—ever!"

"My faith, madam," cried the duke, "this saucy fellow has paid you the last insult! He is so sure of you he does not fear you will believe the truth. When all is told, if you do not agree he deserved the lashing we planned to"—

"I'll hear no more!"

"You will bitterly repent it, madam. For your own sake I entreat—"

"And I also," broke in M. Beaucaire. "Permit me, mademoiselle. Let him speak."

"Then let him be brief," said Lady Mary, "for I am earnest to be quit of him. His explanation of an attack on my friend and on my carriage should be made to my brother."

"Alas that he was not here," said the duke, "to aid me! Madam, was your carriage threatened? I have endeavored only to expunge a debt I owed to Bath and to avenge an insult offered to yourself through—"

"Sir, sir, my patience will bear little more!"

CELL FOR SCHMITZ

SENTENCE IS PASSED ON MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Five Years in State Prison For Extorting Money From Dive Keepers.—Will Run Again For Office.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—Mayor Eugene E. Schmitz, grafting mayor of San Francisco, who sold out his union friends, and his city to political grafters, appeared before Superior Court Judge Dunne, and was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

Schmitz was convicted of extortion for taking money from saloons and resorts, in return for which he forced the board of supervisors to grant whisky licenses. He will appeal.

There are a number of other indictments against Schmitz, who, though behind prison bars, declares he is still mayor of Frisco and will be a candidate to succeed himself.

Miss West And The Banner.

Miss Sallie West, of this city, is one of the candidates for a Nashville Banner trip to Washington, D. C., and the Jamestown Exposition. Her district is No. 20, Southwestern Kentucky, and she will deeply appreciate any assistance she may receive, especially in the way of subscriptions. The Banner is a splendid paper, one of the best published in the south, and it reaches Hopkinsville early in the evening. The combination of such an excellent newspaper as the Banner and so worthy a young lady as Miss West ought to prove irresistible, so that Miss West will be winner in the contest and the Banner's Hopkinsville subscription list will be greatly increased. Miss West resides at 208, East Twenty first street.

Death Of Young Lady

Miss Mary Harris, a sweet and attractive young lady, died Sunday night at the residence of her mother, Mrs. Mattie Harris, on Twelfth street. She was about twenty years of age, and typhoid fever, from which she suffered a little less than two weeks, caused her death. The remains were taken to Caledonia for interment Monday.

Destroys Hair Germs

Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair. Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.

Does not change the color of the hair.

Formula with each bottle. Show it to your doctor. Ask him about it, then do as he says.

Ayer's Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp. Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigor will give the same splendid results.

BIG FEATURE

Original Passion Play Pictures at Holland's Opera House.

The feature of the season in Theatrical circles will be the presentation next week at Holland's opera house, the famous Passion Play pictures that have created a furore in all the big cities not only in America but in foreign countries.

These are the original pictures and are secured only at an immense expense, and the local management is required to deposit a heavy bond to insure the safe return of the films.

There are over three thousand feet to be exhibited, and this will be done in daily sections, beginning Monday, July 15 and continuing on Tuesday and Wednesday.

CATARRH CAN BE CURED.

Kill the Germs by Breathing Hy-o-mei. Gives Quick Relief.

Many people who have suffered with catarrh for years naturally feel that the disease cannot be cured, and becomes discouraged.

Their failure to get relief is due to the fact that they have not used the right remedy. Catarrh is an affection of the head, throat and lungs, and cannot be cured by stomach dosing.

The only scientific and natural treatment for this disease is Hy-o-mei, which is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, so that its healing medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells, kills all catarrh germs, and restores the mucous membrane of the nose, throat and lungs to a healthy condition.

Hy-o-mei is the only cure for catarrh that has ever been sold with the understanding that it was to cost absolutely nothing unless it cured.

L. L. Elgin sells Hy-o-mei in this way and is always ready to refund the money if it does not relieve and cure catarrh.

The healing and antiseptic balsams of Hy-o-mei perform their purpose to perfection, and by using this remedy for a few times each day, you can soon cure yourself of any catarrhal troubles.

A complete Hy-o-mei outfit consisting of a bottle of Hy-o-mei and an inhaler costs but $1.00. to

DONE BY DYNAMITE

The Twice-a-Week Leader published at Princeton, publishes the following item in its Tuesday issue:

"It is reported from the Goose Creek section that a threshing machine of the old 'Ground Hog' make, and the property of J. H. Strong, was taken from his barn Saturday night and blown to pieces with a charge of dynamite. It was, perhaps the only threshing machine of that make in existence in this section, and Mr. Strong was preparing to use it this week. There is no clue as to the guilty parties or reason given for the destruction of the threshing in this manner."

Sufferings Over.

Wainwright Lewis, aged 45 years, died early this morning at his home on East Seventh street. He had been ill for a long time from a complication of diseases. Mr. Lewis leaves a wife and many friends to mourn his loss. He was in the grocery business. Funeral services will be held tomorrow and the remains will be buried in the afternoon in the Hamby burying grounds.

ARE DISAPPOINTED

AT YIELD OF WHEAT IN CHRISTIAN COUNTY.

Farmers Are Making Only From Four to Fifteen Bushels to Acre.—Tobacco Market.

A large portion of the wheat crop of this county has been threshed out, the farmers making the best of the hot days of the past two weeks. The yield generally has proven even more disappointing than had been at first estimated, the yield running from four to fifteen bushels per acre. The grade on this has been excellent in nearly every case, which is some recompense for the small amount secured. As a result of this shortage the local market has been very bullish, most of the farmers saying they wanted $1 per bushel. Quotations now are hovering around 90 cents and the variation is being anxiously watched.

While growing crops have not suffered yet, another week of the continued hot and dry weather will have a damaging effect on the corn, while it will also retard the growth of other products. For the past four weeks there have been only scattering local showers and very few of these, and the farmers are now anxious for a general and soaking rain.

High prices resulting from a demand far in excess of the supply, continue to dominate the local tobacco market. During the past week the same story of eager buyers trying to outdo each other whenever any offerings were made, continued. Those having tobacco to sell continue to hold the whiphand and many of these realize this to such an extent that they will not offer their holdings. The prospects for a short crop are now so decided that no one claims that there will be over sixty-five per cent of the average.

On the general market everybody was busy with the exception of on the Fourth of July, when all buying and selling was suspended and the tobacco board of trade gave their annual barbecue, to which all the tobacco men were invited. On the other five days, however, the market was very active. Prices ruled as follows:

Lugs—Low, $6 to $6.50; common, $6.50 to $7; medium, $7 to $7.50; good, $7.50 to $8; fine, $8 to $8.50.

Leaf—Low, $7 to $8; common, $8 to $9.50; medium, $9.50 to $11; good, $11.50 to $13; fine, $13 to $16.

Cigar wrappers, $11 to $15; binders, $9 to $11; fillers, $6.50 to $8.

The Planters' Protective association, through their local salesman, report the sale at this place of 426 hogheads. This ranged from low grade lugs to medium leaf and the prices ranged from $6 to $8.50 for lugs and from $9 to $13 for leaf.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY

ON TOBACCO TRUST

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT BEGINS WAR

Suit Filed Seeking to Prevent and "Restrain the Unlawful Existing Agreements and Conspiracies."

NEW YORK, July 11.—The government has filed in the United States circuit court of this city a petition against the American Tobacco Co., commonly known as the "Tobacco Trust," and its sixty-four subsidiaries or affiliated corporations, and twenty-nine individuals connected with the named companies.

That all the defendants are engaged in interstate and foreign trade and commerce in tobacco and products manufactured therefrom is alleged by the petition. It is stated that the act of July 2, 1902, to protect trade and commerce, and subsequent acts have been violated, and the government therefore seeks to prevent and restrain the unlawful existing agreements, combinations and conspiracies and monopolies be enjoined, and that each of the defendants and companies be restrained from holding or controlling stock in any other.

HAVE SOME STRAWBERRIES?

Several families of this city are enjoying strawberries out of their own gardens, notwithstanding the fact that the usual crop was exhausted nearly two months ago. The berries which are now being eaten are the second crop of the year and they are being gathered in sufficiently large quantities to serve to entire families and in one instance, that of E. F. Coyner, enough were secured to make quite a lot of preserves. W. A. Wilson is another citizen whose bed is bearing plentifully, while others are reported.

The berries are not so large and handsome as were the first crop, this being due to the dry weather of the past month. They are delicious in flavor, though, and are sweeter than those of earlier in the season. The vines are still blooming and have a quantity of green berries on them which promises a continuance of the unusual, but most welcome yield. This is the first time that a second crop of strawberries ever reached such a prolific and perfect stage.

Do you know how—
To find quick relief from backache
To correct distressing urinary ills:
To surely cure sick kidneys?
Just one way—your neighbors know
Have Used Doan's Kidney Pills; Have proved their worth in many tests.

Here's Hopkinsville testimony.

Mrs. W. C. Davis, 829 West Seventh street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says:

"Mr. Davis has never had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since he recommended them in the summer of 1903. For years prior to that time he had been an almost constant sufferer from kidney trouble.
He had intense pains in the back which extended to his shoulders and annoyed him all day. They prevented him from sleeping during the night. The relief he obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills which he got at L. A. Johnson &
Co.'s drug store was surprising.
They acted differently from any remedy he ever tried and he has never had a recurrence of the trouble since using this valuable remedy four years ago. It speaks pretty strongly for Doan's Kidney Pills that cured him."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson II.—Third Quarter, For
July 14, 1907.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. xx, 1-11.
Memory Verses, 1-11—Golden Text, Deut. vi, 5—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1907, by American Press Association.]

We have just passed the gracious story of the manna when we find more murmuring on the part of Israel. This time it is because they have no water.
Moses referred the matter to the Lord and was told to take his rod and smite the rock. Moses did so, and the water came forth for the thirsting people.
Oh, how gracious our Lord is, for they had tempted Him, saying, "Is the Lord among us or not? We must not forget that the Lord had said, 'Behold, I will stand before thee there upon the rock in Horeb,' thus identifying Himself with the rock (Ex. xvii, 1-7), and we read in I Cor. x, 4, "that rock was Christ."

The Lamb, the cloud, the tree, the manna, the rock, all speak to Him and after the conflict with Amalek (xvii, 8-10), so suggestive of our enemy, the flesh, or self, we have, "Jehovah-nissi," the Lord, my banner. In this connection see Ps. xx, 5; ix, 4; Song ii, 4, and may we so display the banner that victory over self shall be ours al-way.

Chapter xix is in some respects the most remarkable yet, for in it we have the record of Moses bringing the people forth out of the camp to meet God and the Lord descending in fire upon the mount to talk to the people. There is a great fullness in the words of verses 4 and 5, and if any one will take the trouble to look up the eight passages in which the word translated "peculiar treasure" is found they will be abundantly repaid (Ex. xix, 5; Deut. vii, 6;
xiv, 2; xxvi, 18; I Chron. xxix, 3; Eccl.
ii, 8; Ps. cxxxv, 4; Mal. iii, 17). The Lord brought Israel unto Himself, that they might be His peculiar treasure.
See also Ps. iv, 8, and Tit. ii, 14, Rev.
Ver.

As to eagle's wings see Deut. xxxii, 11, 12; Isa. xl, 31. The people's reply that they would do all that God had said (xix, 8; xxiv, 7) makes us think of Simon Peter's words uttered in his vain self confidence, "Though I should die with Thee, yet will I not deny Thee" (Matt. xxvi, 35). It seems most difficult for us to learn that there is naught but sin and that God expects no good from those who cannot give it (Rom. vii, 18; viii, 7, 9). The law of God, which is holy and just and good (Rom. vii, 12; Ps. xix, 7-9), a picture of what God is and what He requires us to be, is intended to so convince us of sin that we shall never peep one word about what we are or think we can do, for "What things soever the law saith it saith to them who are under the law, that every mouth may be stopped and all the world may become guilty before God" (Rom. iii, 19). We are all by nature sinners and as helpless to deliver ourselves from bondage as Israel was to deliver herself from the bondage of Egypt.

The same one who brought Israel out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage (xx, 1, 2), is the only one who can deliver us, and this He does for all who, seeing their helplessness, cry from the heart, "God be merciful to me, a sinner" (Luke xviii, 13). Then He will justify us freely by the redemption that is in Christ Jesus, for He becomes the end of the law for righteousness to every believer (Rom.
iii, 24; x, 3, 4), and when once we see His righteousness we count our own as nothing but dross (Phil. iii, 8, 9).

It must be noticed that this law of our lesson, this week and next, was not given in Egypt, but to those whom He had redeemed from Egypt, so we read in Rom. viii, 1-4, that it is only in the redeemed, those who are in Christ,
and to whom there is no condemnation, that the righteousness of the law can be fulfilled.

As I read these Ten Commandments to my people from month to month at every communion service, I think it well to remind them from time to time that as only the new heart can keep this law it is as good as an unswerving person to pray, "Incline my heart to keep this law." For myself, as I read them I consider how wonderful these words are which were spoken by God Himself out of the midst of the fire and written twice by His own hand on tables of stone. That they were spoken out of the midst of the fire is repeated ten times in Deut. iv, 12, 15, 33, 36;
v, 4, 22, 24, 28; ix, 10; x, 4—out of heaven a voice, on earth a fire, because He loved the people, for God is love, and God is a consuming fire (Deut. iv, 24, 36, 37; I John iv, 8, 10). Love is a consuming fire, and many waters cannot quench it (Song viii, 7).

Until we are redeemed gods many and lords many have dominion over us (Isa. xxvi, 13; I Cor. viii, 5, 6), but to the redeemed there is but one God, the Father, and one Lord, Jesus Christ, who alone can reveal the Father. In whom we see the Father. To Him alone we bow, and Him alone we exalt and worship (Isa. li, 11, 17; Matt. iv, 10). To us His name is above every name (Phil. ii, 9, 10), and, if one would not tolerate his father's or mother's name made light of, how much less His great and holy name. His love constraining us, we gladly accept one day in seven as His own in a special sense, according to Isa. lviii, 13, 14.
That God is jealous is written seven times in Ex. xx, 5; xxiv, 14; Deut.
iv, 24; v, 9; vi, 15; Josh. xxiv, 19; Nah.
i, 2, and signifies that He zealously sees for and defends His own.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

An old sore or ulcer is only a symptom, an outlet for the impurities poisons which are in the blood, and as long as this vital fluid remains in this impure, contaminated state the place will never heal. The application of salves, washes, powders, etc., may cause the spot to scab over, but a fresh outpouring of diseased matter from the blood starts it again, and thus it goes on, gradually growing worse and slowly affecting the entire health of the sufferer. There are many ways in which the blood becomes contaminated and poisoned. A long spell of sickness breeds disease germs in the system, the failure of the eliminative members to remove the refuse and waste matter of the body, the excessive use of mineral medicines in certain diseases, all infect the blood with morbid matter and germs which sooner or later is manifested by a sore that refuses to heal. Persons with inherited blood taint are very apt to be afflicted with sores and ulcers. The taint may lie dormant during young, vigorous life, but when middle age is reached or passed and the natural energies begin to grow weaker, the tissues in some weak point break down and a chronic sore is formed and kept open by the constant drainage of impure matter from the blood. If the cause is not removed the sore will continue to grow worse by eating deeper into the flesh, festering, discharging, and slowly undermining the constitution. S. S. S. heals old sores by going down to the very bottom of the trouble, driving out the impurities and building up the entire circulation. When S. S. S. has removed the cause the blood becomes rich and healthy, the sore begins to heal, new flesh is formed, and soon the place is cured. Do not depend on external applications, which do not reach the blood, but begin the use of S. S. S. and remove of the cause, and then the sore must heal. Book on Sores and Ulcers

DEATH OF MR. DAVIE

WITH SHOCKING SUDDENNESS
HIS SPIRIT FLEWPasses Away at His Home While His Wife Was Telephoning For A Physician.

(From Saturday's Daily)

I. P. Davie, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of Christian county, died suddenly late yesterday afternoon at his home in the Howell vicinity. Mr. Davie had had a chill the day before and was not at all well, but was able to be up. He had been lying in a hammock on the lawn and when he went into the house told his wife that he was feeling no better and she insisted on sending for a physician. While Mrs. Davie was at the telephone he lay down on the bed in his room. His wife, as she turned from the telephone, after summoning the doctor, heard him gasp for breath and when she reached his side he was dead.

Mr. Davie was 63 years of age and a son of the late Winston J. Davie, a prominent citizen of Christian county. He was of English descent and his ancestors were soldiers in the Revolutionary war. His grandfather was a major in the war of 1812, and came to Christian county in 1819, was one of the largest planters in the state and served as sheriff of the county. Mr. I. P. Davie was a successful farmer and a gentleman of wide learning and culture, being one of the most highly educated men in the county. He was a graduate of Yale college. He studied law, but never practiced the profession, preferring agricultural pursuits and his books. He was a Mason in high standing, and was formerly Master of the Beverly lodge. Mr. Davie was a brother of the late George M. Davie, a member of the firm of Humphreys & Davie of Louisville, and one of the best known and most successful lawyers in the state. He is survived by his widow, one son and two daughters. The funeral will take place this afternoon at the late residence, with Masonic rites, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Davie family burying ground.

JURIST WHO WON IN IMPEACHMENT TRIAL
PASSES AWAY IN PHILADELPHIA HOSPITAL.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 6.—Judge Charles Swayne, of the United States court for the northern district of Florida, died at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital here last evening.

Judge Swayne had been suffering for some time from complicated kidney troubles, and was brought here to the residence of Gardner W. Kimball, his son-in-law, for treatment by Dr. Edward Martin, of this city.

He did not improve, and later was removed to the hospital, where an operation was performed on him last Tuesday. He improved but in a few days he again began to fail. Those at his bedside when he died were his wife, his son, Henry G. Swayne, a lawyer of this city, and his daughter, Mrs. Gardner W. Kimball, and her husband. Efforts were made to impeach Judge Swayne during the last congress, but failed. It was charged in the national house of representatives that he had been derelict in the performance of his duties. He was 63 years old, a native of Delaware, and was appointed to the federal bench by President Harrison in 1889.

IN A PRISON CELL

IS THE ALLEGED ASSAILANT OF MRS. LLOYD.Another Negro Who Committed A Similar Crime Is Also Under Arrest Here.

(From Saturday's Daily)

Constable T. S. Winfree last night arrested Eugene Slaughter, colored, near Casky on a charge of burglary, but the actual crime for which he was wanted is the entering of the home of Mrs. Sarah Lloyd and the terrorizing of that lady. A prowler entered Mrs. Lloyd's house upon three or four different nights and each time frightened her almost out of her wits. The first time he beat her about the head and attempted to smother her in the bedclothes and threatened to kill her if she told of the occurrence. At this time the miscreant left his hat and this is part of the evidence upon which the warrant was issued, this hat having been identified as that of Slaughter.

Constable Winfree also arrested Andrew Whitlock, colored, upon a charge of burglary. He is charged with having entered the home of Lula Withers and to have beaten her in much the same manner as Mrs. Lloyd was treated.

Albert Pool was arrested for petty larceny. All of the negroes are now in jail.

SAVED LIFE OF CHILD AND LOST HIS OWN PROMINENT KENTUCKIANS HAVE A FIGHT

J. E. QUINE VICTIM OF A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

SKULL CRUSHED BY WHEEL

Threw Boy Out of Harm's Way Before Falling From Wagon.—Own Son Saw Death.

J. E. Quine saved the life of a child and lost his own in a runaway accident Friday afternoon about five o'clock, on the farm of John McKane in the Lafayette neighborhood.

Mr. Quine, who was a renter on the McKane place, was in a hay field and had heavily loaded a wagon, to which a team of mules was hitched. He got up on top of the hay in the wagon and placed a little grandson of Mr. McKane, a favorite of his, in his lap. Taking the lines he started driving from the field. He had gone but a short distance when a colt ran in front of the team, frightening the mules and they ran off. In attempting to check their speed, Mr. Quine was pulled forward on the hay. Without considering his own danger, he caught the child in his arms and succeeded in pitching him from the wagon to a place of safety on the ground. Before he could recover his balance after the effort to put the little boy out of the way of harm, he was dragged from the wagon between the mules. A heavy wheel ran over his head, crushing his skull and death was almost instantaneous. The accident was witnessed by a son of Mr. Quine, Mr. McKane and several other persons, all of whom hastened to the aid of Mr. Quine the moment his danger was observed. The accident, however, occurred so quickly that he was lying crushed and dead before he could be reached. The body was removed to the home of the victim, and Saturday, after funeral services, was interred in the cemetery at Lafayette. Mr. Quine was forty-five years of age and was an industrious and highly respected citizen. He leaves a widow, who is a daughter of City Judge Thacker, of Lafayette, and two sons.

PURLOINED PANTS

And Stole $19 Of Tom Hunter Money From Pocket.

While Tom Hunter was peacefully sleeping last night a thief climbed up on the back porch of Mrs. Wall's boarding house, where he has a room, and reached through the window and stole Tom's trousers, in one pocket of which was $19 in money. The thief made his escape without arousing anyone and the theft was not discovered until this morning when the young man arose and started to dress. A bunch of keys, one of which was to the front door at Frankel's store, had luckily fallen from the trousers pocket on to the floor, and the thief did not secure these. Had he done so the store might have been entered.

Mr. Anderson Leaves

One of Hopkinsville's Foremost Citizens Goes to Knoxville.

(From Monday's Daily)

James H. Anderson left last night for Knoxville, Tenn., where he will reside in the future, and will have a controlling interest in, and personal management of, one of the largest and most successful dry goods establishments in the south. He had not expected to go from Hopkinsville until July 15, but left sooner in response to a telegram he received yesterday. His family will remain here a short while. Since coming to this city in 1889 from Hartford, Ky., Mr. Anderson has been one of the most prominent, valuable and successful citizens, and while the very best wishes of his host of friends will accompany him to his new home, his departure causes universal regret. Knoxville is to be congratulated on securing a man of the finest business capacity and of the highest type of Christian citizenship, while Hopkinsville sustains a loss in business, social and religious circles. The large establishment of J. H. Anderson & company will continue in business without change of any sort, under the active management of the junior partner of the firm, that splendid young business man, John H. Bell, Jr. Plans were being made for a series of entertainments and meetings of citizens in honor of Mr. Anderson and his estimable family, and his early departure causes these to be abandoned.

UNDER SMALL BOND

Eugene Slaughter is Held For Trial July 19.

(From Monday's Daily)

Eugene Slaughter, the negro who was arrested Friday on the charge of having entered Mrs. Sarah Lloyd's home near Casky, and mistreating Mrs. Lloyd, was presented before Judge James Breathitt this morning and was held under $150 bond to appear for trial next Friday week, July 19.

The chief bit of evidence against Slaughter was a hat which it is alleged that the prowler left after his first visit to Mrs. Lloyd's home. This had been identified as belonging to Slaughter, but at the inquiry this morning there seemed to be doubt about this being true, the negro exhibiting a hat which he claims is his own and which is almost exactly like the one left at Mrs. Lloyd's. Judge Breathitt therefore held him over under a small bond to answer for a regular examining trial.

Andrew Whitlock, who was arrested at the same time and who is charged with having entered the home of Lula Withers and mistreating her in much the same manner as was Mr. Lloyd, will be tried at the same time as is Slaughter. Whitlock is in jail.

CHARLES BRONSTON FIRES AT COL. MILWARD.

BUNCH OF KEYS STOPS BULLET

Encounter Grew Out Of Removal Of Mrs. Bronston's Furniture From Husband's House.

LEXINGTON, Ky., July 8 Chas. J. Bronston, formerly commonwealth attorney at Lexington and at one time state senator from the district, created great excitement here Saturday afternoon by firing four pistol shots at Col. W. R. Milward, a prominent undertaker and warehouse man of this city. The shooting occurred on the corner of Second and Broadway, in the heart of the city and attracted a large crowd.

Three bullets narrowly missed Col. Milward, and the fourth struck a bunch of keys in his hip pocket, and was turned from its course. After he shooting Colonel Bronston pocketed his pistol and went to his home, which is about three blocks away. Colonel Milward, who is said to have been unarmed, proceeded on his way in the opposite direction.

Colonel Bronston's wife, who was Miss Belle Wisdom, a Paducah heiress, has been in Paducah for the past four or five months.

Colonel Milward, with an order from Mrs. Bronston, went to the Bronston residence today to remove some furniture to his warehouse. Colonel Bronston objected to his taking the furniture away and hot words passed between them.

Mr. Bronston met Mr. Milward at Second and Broadway and Milward is said to have nodded his head as if to speak to Bronston, who told him that he did not care to speak to him and a quarrel ensued.

No one was near and the principals each gave a different version of the affair. Milward gave out a statement in which he says that when he offered to speak Bronston attacked him, striking him with his fist and while they were clinched Bronston fired four times.

In his version of the affair Bronston says that when they met, Milward, who was leading his little grandson, attempted to speak to him whereupon he told Milward that he did not want to speak to a man who had acted so dishonorably with him. During the argument the lie was passed and according to Bronston Milward attacked him and knocked him down and was advancing on him to stamp him when he fired four shots while down on the pavement.

Bronston says that he fired at Milward's leg, as he did not want to kill him, adding that he could easily have killed Milward by firing at his body.

Immediately after executing bond to appear before Judge Riley next Wednesday morning Bronston and Milward met again at the corner of Short and Market streets, but were surrounded by friends and no words passed.

Just as Bronston started to enter the door of the Trust building to go to his office he encountered Stanley Milward, eldest son of Colonel Milward, and a war of words ensued between them, but before either could resort to arms or strike the other, they were separated and taken to their respective offices.

Fearing that after the fight, there might be further difficulty between the two men or their sons, four friends of the parties met and prepared a paper by which the two sides agree not to renew the trouble, and which the parties concerned assented to.

Take the Postmaster's Word for it Mr. F. M. Hamilton, postmaster at Cherryvale, Ind., keeps also a stock of general merchandise and patent medicines. Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 7.—To all who are burdened with a sense of despondency on account of sickness, loss of friends or fortune or the failure of worldly prospects this sermon comes as a message of consolation and encouragement. The text is Psalm xxxi, 5, "Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning." The Bible declares that it is better to go to the house of mourning than to join in the frolics of the merry-makers. But that does not mean that we should talk to those in trouble with the lugubrious and sepulchral countenance of an undertaker officiating at a funeral. If there is any time in life when we need the curtain up and the sunlight flooding every room in the house, it is when the dark clouds of bereavement have shadowed the hearthstone of the home with bitter, scalding tears. If there is ever a time when a visitor should enter a room with a smile upon the lip and with a ringing note of joy in his salutation and with hope and peace and comfort radiating from every feature of his countenance, that time is when he is standing by a sickbed or is extending the warm clasp of affection to one who is bowed under the heavy burdens of grief. Yet the strange fact is that not one in fifty knows how to enter the house of mourning. Instead of going there with a message of comfort and peace and hope, the average man entering the house of trouble depresses the barometer of suffering and makes the gloomy days of trouble still more gloomy.

Like Job's Comforters.
Almost all of us hold in memory the recollection of the agonizing visits which some weeping Jeremiahs made to us when our cup of anguish was filled to the brim and overflowing. They came to us with long tales of woe to tell us that if we had only gone to their physician and used his medicines our baby would not have died. Or they came to tell us that perhaps God took away our dear ones because we were not living close enough to him and had not fully consecrated our lives to his service. Or they came to us and said, "My dear friend, you should thank God that he has taken away your boy, because your child might have lived to grow up a very bad man, to be some day executed for the crime of murder, or he might have become a drunkard, a libertine or a thief."

Or they entered our sickrooms and homes of death as the miserable comforters of Job came to the patriarch after he had lost money, children and health. Those men had the idea that heavy trouble was the result of heinous sin. They believed that God punished a man in this way when he had done wrong. So when they saw Job suffering the loss of property and children and health they concluded that he had committed some serious crime. They hinted their belief to him and urged him to repent and confess, and when the poor harassed man insisted that he was innocent they warned him not to make his case worse by hypocrisy. Thus they aggravated Job's trouble, and he exclaimed, "Miserable comforters are ye all!"

But though the world may have its Eliphazes and Zophars and Bildads, thank God that the human race also has its Davids. It has the noble men and women who, in times of great trouble, can come into our lives and speak the sympathetic word in just the right way. These men may have a tear in the eye, but they always have a smile beaming on the lip. They come to us in our distress and say: "Brother, it may be dark for you now, but believe me, God is good. From my own personal experience I can testify that all things will come out right, if we only trust him and live for him. 'Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.' Thank God, the sunrise of gospel truth can always follow the darkest nights of despair."

David could speak from experience about nights of weeping. He was no novice in sorrow. He had tasted the bitter cup of woe and had drunk its contents to the dregs. And as I portray the sufferings of the shepherd boy who afterward became the king of Israel, I want his experience to help you to find the peace that passeth all understanding which the sweet singer of Israel enjoyed.

David, in the first place, knew all about the mental sufferings of an unhappy child. He knew what it was to have a little boy's heart beat and throb with anguish. He knew what it was to go sobbing night after night to bed. He may have known what it was to crave for parental love and receive it not. And of all a child's troubles I believe there is not one greater than to feel that a father or a mother loves the rest of the children better than they love him. Oh, the awful sufferings that come from parental favoritism! God pity the boys or the girls who have to bear that heavy trial in their youth.

A Family Story.
I never had this fact more powerfully illustrated than at my own dining room table. If you will not think the personal history impertinent, I may tell you that my boys and my girls and I are one. We play together; we laugh together; we joke together; we live together as one. Paul said: "When I was a child, I spoke as a child, I understood as a child, I thought as a child. But when I became a man, I put away childish things." But in reference to my children, I have never become a man. I have never ceased to be a child. Well, one day at the dining room table I was joking with one of my children. Some people might think I was teasing her. After the dinner was over and the children had left for school, a gentleman who was a guest at the table said: "Mr. Talmage, I would never tease a child like that. When I was young, my father never teased me. He used to take a childish delight in tantalizing me whenever I came to the table. I always used to come late in order not to meet him. And sometimes, on account of his teasing, I would not speak to him for months at a time. Ah, no father has a right to tease his children and to make them think that he does not care for them." When I heard that man speak thus, I said to myself, "Poor fellow. He must have spent his childhood days as young David spent his."

David's Childhood.
Where do I find the intimation that David had an unhappy childhood? I think we have it in the story of Samuel's visit. Have you ever carefully studied that incident? Why, parental favoritism is sticking out all over it. When Samuel came to Bethlehem to find a new king of Israel among Jesse's sons, what did the father do? He brought every son he had before the prophet, except one. He seemed to say: "Samuel, here are my seven boys. Did you ever see a finer lot of young men? Any one of them is fit to be a king." And as the father speaks thus a look of loving pride spreads over his features. But the prophet is still not satisfied. He keeps looking and looking. He is looking for some one else. Then he says to Jesse, "Are here all thy children?" With that a look of disdain comes into the father's face as he answers: "Ah, yes; there is still another; but he is a puny, undersized stripling. He does not amount to much. You surely do not want him. There yet remaineth the youngest, and behold he keepeth the sheep." Thus as Jesse pushed David his son into the back-ground on account of parental favoritism for the other children, some of us have lived through a bitter childhood. We have angrily felt that our father or mother did not care for us as they cared for the rest. David well knew what it was to weep during the long nights of his childhood. And yet today he comes to all boys and says: "My young friends, do not worry. God will yet scatter your gloom. Look at a bright dawn coming for you. Look how God has led me out of my childhood trials. 'Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.' Boys and girls, young men and young women, with your fresh young cheeks wet with a shower of tears, will you believe it?"

But David had more dark nights than those found in his childhood days. He also knew what the struggles of young manhood mean. He knew what it was to work for years to perfect himself for an important task and then to be laughed and sneered at and denied opportunity to do what he knew he was fitted to do. He was just like hundreds and thousands of young people adrift in our large cities, struggling to get a foothold in life when the world will not recognize their physical and mental capabilities.

A Revolutionary Story.
Perhaps I can illustrate my thought by telling you the sad history of Captain John Callender of the Revolutionary war. At Bunker Hill this young American hero was in the command of an artillery company. Something got wrong with his cannon, and he ordered the soldiers to drag them to the rear, that they might not fall into the hands of the enemy. Just then General Israel Putnam rode along the lines, and he saw what Callender was doing. He charged the young man with being a coward and ordered him back to the line of battle at the point of the pistol. Immediately after the battle, upon the testimony of General Putnam, young Callender was degraded and in disgrace retired from the service. Undaunted by the injustice which was done him, young Callender enlisted in the army as an ordinary private. He gallantly fought through battle after battle. At last the attention of the great commander in chief, George Washington, was drawn to this young soldier. And toward the close of the war General Washington investigated the cause of Callender's dismissal. He reversed the unjust sentence of Putnam. He restored Captain John Callender to his original position, making his commission date from the degradation at Bunker Hill. So we find our young Captain John Callenders everywhere. They are young men of brain and force and power. By the injustices and jealousies of their fellow men they are kept in the background, and younger men with half their capabilities are pushed to the front. Was this not young David's experience?

Read the story of his offer to fight the giant. What do you now find? Young David is in the camp of King Saul. Before him stalks the great Goliath defying the armies of Israel. What did David do? Why, he said, "If no one else will go forth to meet this giant I will go." Had he not carried the keener if not the most expert marksmanship with the sling in all the Hebrew nation? Had not his bravery been tested again and again? Alone with the sheep, "way off among the foothills, had he not defied the wild beasts and the Bedouin robbers? And yet when young David said, "I will go and fight the mighty Goliath," what happened? His elder brothers, who were honored soldiers of Saul's army, began to sneer and to laugh. "Alas," they said, "you had better go home and hang on to your mother's apron strings; you are a pretty faced baby to come here and talk like a braggart!" Listen; let me read you the literal words: "And Eliab's anger was kindled against David and he said, Why comest thou down hither, and with whom hast thou left those few sheep in the wilderness? I know thy pride and the naughtiness of thy heart; for thou art come down that thou mightest see the battle." Thus young David had to struggle to get his foothold in life. Has not King David a right to come to our young folks, battling and struggling to get a foothold in life, and say: "Young people, I know your trials. I know how hard it is to make the world recognize your powers. But struggle on. God will see you through. The darkness and despair are sure to be followed by the sunrise of triumph. 'Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.' Yes, young folks, keep on in your struggles; all will yet be well."

David's Second Goliath.
But today David comes to bring us gospel comfort which he has found in the crises of his palace as well as in the trials and misrepresentations and struggles of his early life. When David was a mature, well developed man, with the kingly crown upon his head and the royal purple robes about his shoulders, he had a Goliath to fight more formidable than the one he encountered when he was a rugged faced shepherd boy. And when David met this second Goliath he became not the conqueror, but the conquered. And yet today, as a repentant libertine and murderer, he comes to us and says: "Friend, your earthly success may have been the means of destroying your spiritual life. But Christ can save you yet, for he has saved me, the chief of sinners." Has your experience, successful man, been that of King David? With a kingly crown upon your head and with royal purple about your shoulders, have you never been compelled to shed repentant tears over some spiritual fall, some mean, disgraceful thing you have done under strong temptation?

The material conflicts of a noble youth cannot be compared to the spiritual struggles of the human heart when facing some terrible sin of middle life. Some time ago I saw in the home of one of my elders the most suggestive picture. Its subject was "Darkness and Light." In the foreground of that picture is the bright sunshine of the noontide. A young woman, with a baby in her arms and a sturdy child of five summers tugging at her skirts, has brought a well filled lunch basket to her young husband working as a day laborer. He is a magnificent specimen of a man. With his abounding health and laughing face he seems to say: "Life is a battle, but my bare arm is strong enough to fight it. Life has its burdens, but my shoulders are broad enough to carry them." There he stands, holding out his hands to take the baby from her mother's arms. Life may be a struggle, but if triumphant joy was ever pictured in a man's face and in a woman's bearing and in her child's smile it is to be found in the foreground of that picture.

But hardly has your eye studied the four happy figures in the foreground than you look into the background of the picture. There under the trees' shadow in a beautiful garden stands a young woman in widow's weeds. She has an open book in her hand which she is listlessly carrying. She has been walking, but her mind is far away from the dead. Suddenly she turns and catches a glimpse of that happy family group. If her sad, mournful eyes and pathetic face mean anything, they seem to say: "Oh, if I could only give up my money and my home and my diamonds and my wealth and have my dear ones to love like that! O God, can I ever be as I once was?" So some of us seem to be walking amid the grandeur of our temporal prosperities. But we are not studying the pictures upon our walls or the grandeur of our homes. We are looking at the spiritual wrecks of our past lives. Like David, we see our heinous sin rising up before us. We are saying, "O God, that I might live my life over again and be as I once was!" But no sooner do our repentant tears begin to fall than David the libertine, the murderer, comes to us and says: "Friend, Christ will forgive you your sins as he has forgiven me my sins if you will only throw yourself upon his mercy. 'Weeping may endure for a night, but joy cometh in the morning.' Will you believe it, sinner? Amid the complete destruction of your spiritual life will you believe it and throw yourself upon the mercy of a pardoning Christ?"

But David comes in his old age, as a broken hearted father, to bring to us gospel comfort, just as he once came as a young man and as a middle aged man. He comes with his gray hairs and with tottering feet and leaning upon a staff, and says: "Fathers and mothers, I know only too well how you are worrying and agonizing over that wayward boy. I have drunk out of the same chalice of woe. I know what it is to sit up night after night, waiting for him to come home, while you listen for his staggering footsteps. Ah, no night is so dark as that night when a loving parent is listening for the step of a returning prodigal. I have been through it all. God will comfort you, even as he comforted me after my boy Absalom went astray. Trust him, father. Trust him, mother. He is the Jesus who alone can bring you comfort at a time like this. Will you trust him, you who have dear ones who are doing wrong? Will you trust this Christ even now? Will you just trust Jesus and cling to him for help?"

If you cannot get help from Christ at this time, you can get help from no other source. In a masterpiece painted some years ago the artist took for his theme "The Sacrifice of Iphigenia." Perhaps you know the story. Away back in Homeric times, Agamemnon, leader of the Greeks, with his wife and daughter, Clytemnestra and Iphigenia, was leading his great fleet to attack Troy. Suddenly the fleet became becalmed. Then Calchas, the wisest of the soothsayers, declared that the gods were angry and the fleet could never continue on its journey unless the beautiful princess Iphigenia was offered a sacrifice. So the artist pictures all these Homeric characters gathered about to slay the beautiful Iphigenia to assuage the anger of the gods.

Is there among the myths a more sorrowful story? Iphigenia was saved in the end, but there are analogous cases in which no miracle interposes. How bitter must be the reflections of some aged father who, to gain wealth for himself or a title for his daughter, sacrifices her in a loveless marriage! He may be carried upward in society by the wind of fortune, but he has no joy in his success as he realizes what it cost his daughter. Oh, there are some sorrows beyond the reach of an earthly comforter. Carry them where David carried his griefs and learn at least the value of the heavenly peace.

Ancient and Modern Sacrifices.
Perhaps King David's sorrow over Absalom may not have been free from self reproach. Could it be that he neglected to pray for his son Absalom until it was too late? Should we not trust Christ for our children? You have tried your own strength long enough to prove it a failure, so now will you not ask for the divine help? Some years ago a poor wife and mother entered the study of the great London preacher, Charles H. Spurgeon. She told the minister her sad story. It was the old story of a dissipated husband and a heartbroken wife and mother. "There is nothing we can do," said Mr. Spurgeon, "but to kneel down and cry to the Lord for the immediate conversion of your husband. What he needs is not human aid, but divine rescue." "We knelt," said the great preacher, "and I prayed that God would bring the erring one back and convert his soul and make him a loving husband and a true Christian. When we arose from our knees I turned to the poor woman and said: 'My dear woman, do not fret and worry about this matter. Trust God. I feel sure God will bring your husband back home.' The praying woman went away. Some time after she came back to Mr. Spurgeon and with radiant face exclaimed: 'He has come back home to me and the children. He has become a converted man. Thank God! Thank God!'"

It was found that that husband in faraway lands was convicted of his sins and brought to Christ at the very time his wife and Mr. Spurgeon were on their knees praying for his conversion. Such incidents could be found in scores and thousands of homes, if we could only get into the inner hearts of men and women. Wives have prayed their husbands into the kingdom. Mothers and fathers have prayed their children into the kingdom. Friends have prayed their friends into the kingdom. Can you not pray your dear ones to Christ? Can you not get this peace of the gospel for the joy of your own soul and also for the salvation of your dear ones? Will you not turn the darkness of the night into the joy of morning?

"But," says some one, "when is this gospel morning to break? Oh, the night has been so long for some of us. Why, I have been praying for my wayward child for twenty years. Is the night never going to end? And this awful sin of my youth—I have prayed and prayed to God to forgive me. I believe he has. I know he has. But that forgiveness does not wipe out its awful results. When shall I see the breaking day? When is my eastern horizon to be covered by the golden light of the rising sun?" When? Why, my brother, the gospel sun is rising now. The dawn has been illuminating your eastern hills from the time you first gave your heart to Christ. It is not as bright now as it will be a few years hence; but if you only trust Christ and live for Christ your day will grow brighter and brighter every year, from day to day, until the eternal morning breaks, and God shall wipe all tears from your eyes.

The South Kentucky Building & Loan Association

(Incorporated)
Offers You the Best Investments for Your Savings.

Because it invests its funds solely in first mortgage loans on the homes of the people in this city, and thus avoids all of the risks attendant upon commercial banking.

Because all of its loans are payable in small monthly payments, beginning as soon as the loan is made, and thus reducing the loan and increasing our relative security all the time.

Call and let us explain the plans of the Association.

WINTER'S lingering in the lap of spring did it. Perhaps you remember that when we expected pleasant weather early in the season, it rained, then it rained again, and then it rained between rains, and all the time when we should have been selling spring things. This short season leaves our stock too large. NOW THINGS MUST GO. New season and new stock in view. Plenty of time to wear light weight but short time to sell them. So here goes. The more you buy the more money you make, goods advancing all the time, but this stock must be sold regardless of the prices to make room for the fall goods. This is the whole story. Remember the time and the place. The doors will open promptly at 8 o'clock, Saturday, July 13th, 1907. J. T. WALL & CO. are preeminently the sales-makers of Hopkinsville, an acknowledged fact that when they do put on a sale it is a real genuine money-saver for the people. No fake. No old dilapidated goods bought to work off on Christian county people at a profit. Our sales have always been a success because we do all we promise and even more. This is an opportunity that you can't afford to miss. Everything marked in plain figures. Hundreds of bargains that we haven't space for on paper.
